DEFEATING LA TUQUE SIX TO FOUR, MCGILL CLIMBS ONE MORE RUNG TOWARDS CHAMPIONSHIP OF EAST

Combination of Red and White Was Deciding Factor—Stenson Starred—Large Crowd Witnessed Fast Game—Rooters Out in Force—Individual Brilliance Shown By La Tuque — "Hockey Tourists" Left For Toronto Last Night.

The McGill hockey team won their seventh straight victory last night when they defeated the strong La Tuque sextette by a score of 6 to 4. Taking into consideration the fact that the Red and White had already played two hard games this week, their performance last night was little short of phenomenal.

The whole team played well, the work of Stenson in the nets being a special feature of the game, but the defence gave him almost perfect support except on two occasions when loose playing allowed a La Tuque player to walk in and score an easy goal. Showing combination that brought many of the old-timers back to the palmy days when combination and not scintillating individual play made the game a delight to watch, the forward line swept down the ice time after time, and but for marvellous luck on the part of the La Tuque goal-keeper, McGill's end of the score would have been much larger.

While the McGill combination was the feature of the game, the spectators were treated to the greatest exhibition of individual playing that has been seen in Montreal in many seasons. During the greater part of the first and second periods, George McNaughton, the La Tuque centre, considered by many, and on his showing last night, undoubtedly the best amateur hockey player in the east, played the McGill team to a standstill. His equal as a puck-carrier has not been seen in amateur hockey this season, and his long sweeping poke-check broke up numerous McGill attacks. He accounted for three of La Tuque's goals, and was directly responsible for the other. Hughes and Montgrain were also very effective, but were outshone by McNaughton.

The first period saw McGill on the defensive, and Stenson was called upon quite frequently to turn aside dangerous shots from Hughes and McNaughton. After about five minutes had expired, Flanagan broke up a combination and, sweeping down the ice, passed to Behan, who gave the goal-keeper absolutely no chance to save. McGill's advantage was short-lived, for McNaughton came back in two minutes and scored on a spectacular individual effort. The players at this period began to feel the effects of the terrible pace they had set, and at an opportune moment Lyall was sent in to relieve Anderson. He signalized his appearance by scoring a beautiful goal on a pass from Behan, sending in an ankle-high shot from the side. McGill had now struck their stride, and Flanagan grabbed the puck from the face-off and banged in another goal before La Tuque had settled down. This upset them much more, and on a combination play between Flanagan and Behan, the latter scored, drawing out the goal-keeper and popping in a goal which brought the scoring to a close for the period.

If McGill imagined that the game was already won, they were rudely awakened, for La Tuque came back and kept them on the defensive for over half the period, but once again the McGill combination showed to good effect and Anderson netted their fifth goal on the prettiest play of the evening, receiving a pass from Behan, who had taken Flanagan's pass and drawn out the defence. La Tuque showed their mettle by attacking desperately, and Braithwaite scored in forty-five seconds, battling in a rebound from his own shot. This goal seemed to give La Tuque new life, and McNaughton engineered a play which resulted in his scoring on a rebound from a shot by Hughes. On this goal the McGill defence showed lamentable weakness in allowing McNaughton to skate in uncovered and giving Stenson no chance whatever to clear. At this period the play was nip and tuck, and Stenson made many stops that bordered on the sensational. For almost two minutes he stopped drives with almost every part of his anatomy, and once threw his stick away in order to save an almost certain goal. The teams at this time were playing five men aside, as Flanagan and Gerald McNaughton were serving penalties for tripping. Flanagan returned to the ice first, giving McGill an advantage of one man, which resulted in his scoring on a pass from Anderson, bringing the period to a close with the score 6-3 in favor of McGill. Coach Shaughnessy made a judicious use of his substitutes, sending in fresh men at the psychological moment when the regulars showed signs of distress. Gallery showed his versatility by substituting at both right and left wing, and his back-checking proved a stumbling-block to many well-intended and dangerous La Tuque attacks.

McGill started the third period minus one man, Dineen having been penalized shortly before the expiration of the second stanza. La Tuque, with their backs to the wall and with their chances of winning further laurels fading with every minute, fought desperately, almost deluging Stenson with shots from every angle, but he proved equal to the occasion, and, with everyone in a frenzy of excitement, displayed the utmost coolness and stopped and cleared with almost clock-like precision. Dineen and Cully at this stage proved their worth by relieving the fast-tiring forward line time and again by lightning rushes down the ice. Dineen surprised even his most ardent admirers by his marvellous display of speed, and was easily the fastest man on the ice. Cully proved dangerous, and tested Duchesne with a couple of cannon-ball shots, and on one occasion came within an ace of scoring on a rebound of his own shot. Behan, who up to this time had been playing sterling hockey, gave an exhibition of stick-handling of which only he is capable, and but for hard luck would have notched another goal, as he had ragged past the defence and had only the goal-keeper to beat, but drew his angle too fine and hit the goal-post. With McNaughton's return to the ice, La Tuque took on a new lease of life and Braithwaite and McNaughton rushed. The former almost scored, and Stenson was called upon to save on successive shots from these two. Stenson again distinguished himself by rushing out and intercepting a pass which had all the ear-marks of (Continued on Page 4.)

SKI CARNIVAL TO-DAY AND ON SATURDAY

Big Winter Carnival of Year Commences

2.30 P.M.

Distance Events End on Old Campus—4.00-4.30 p.m.

This afternoon will see the beginning of the Big Outdoor Winter Meet of the year, the Ski Carnival. Four universities from across the line are sending strong teams to compete, and the competition will be keen in all events. The visitors are reported to be in excellent trim and to have no lack of practice.

Dartmouth University, who placed second in their Home Meet, has sent a team of nine men, all of whom are going to give good accounts of themselves. University of Vermont is represented by eight men, Middlebury by six, and Williams by six.

The Molson Cup, donated by Lieut.-Col. Molson, will go to the McGill man gaining the all-round championship of the meet, and will, if possible, increase the keenness of the contestants.

The ski proficiency test is the first event of the meet, to be held at the Park Slide at 2.30 p.m. McGill has entered the following men:

Birks
Sherrard
Leslie
Owens

Toronto and Queen's Boxers Have Arrived.

CLOSELY MATCHED.

No One Should Miss the Opportunity of Seeing the Bouts.

To-day sees the beginning of the boxing, wrestling and fencing bouts for the Intercollegiate championship. Eight o'clock in the evening is the time set for the beginning of the events, and anyone who is unable to be present is missing something of great benefit to himself. There are only a limited number of seats, and the tickets for these are selling rapidly, so those who intend going are advised to procure their tickets as soon as possible. There are no reserved seats, so the early birds will get the best ones.

SNOWSHOERS STAGE MEET ON CAMPUS

Cross-Country at 3.30 p.m. To-Day.

DASH SATURDAY.

The Keenest Competition is Assured in Both Events.

The Snowshoe cross-country run comes off this afternoon at three o'clock sharp. The McGill men have been training assiduously for the last few weeks, and consequently are confident of coming out on top. However, their rivals from the States, although an uncertain quantity, are in no wise to be underestimated.

The Red and White entry list in this event, as in the snowshoe dash of to-morrow morning, will comprise four men—Hamilton, Davis, Simpson and Creelman. The last-named, Creelman, ran away with the honors in the three-mile run at Dartmouth a few weeks ago, and bids fair to repeat the performance to-day unless the unexpected happens. Hamilton, who won the Canadian half-mile snowshoe championship at the National M.A.A. meet at the first of the month, may also be depended upon to give a good account of himself. Simpson and Davis are both men who have displayed their mettle on previous occasions, and with such an aggregation we may feel confident of the result. FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1921.

THE ASSAULT-AT-ARMS

This evening McGill greets her old rivals, Varsity and Queens in the ball room of the Union, for the semi-finals of the Intercollegiate Assault-at-Arms.

In last year's tournament, which was held at Kingston, McGill was unfortunate enough to take third place. The men representing the Red and White showed their skill in all three branches of sport featured at the meet, but were unable to out-point their opponents from Toronto and Kingston. Considerable progress has been made by the Boxing, Wrestling and Fencing Club this year, and some excellent material has been developed. Activities have been followed with a great deal of interest, and given a fairly large degree of well-merited support.

The team has been through a stiff period of training during the last few weeks, and the trainers report perfect satisfaction with the condition of their men, so that McGill's entries should be well up to the desired standards. Toronto is reported to have a strong all-round team, while Queens has some excellent men in certain weights, and may provide some surprises.

There is no doubt that most of the decisions will be hotly contested, and lovers of good, clean sport are assured of some interesting bouts to-night.

THE WINTER CARNIVAL

With the opening of her second winter carnival McGill welcomes the men who are coming to her campus to compete with the Red and White from some of the best and foremost of the continent's colleges. Dartmouth, University of Vermont, Middlebury and Williams are represented, and their teams are made up of men who have showed marked ability at their respective Alma Maters.

Events such as this have a purpose broader than mere physical rivalry, and should very materially help to cement intercollegiate and international friendship. It is to be hoped that McGill's representatives will make this carnival the truest success by greeting their guests with whole-hearted hospitality, and by making their stay worth while and as enjoyable as possible.

SKI CARIVAL TO-DAY AND ON SATURDAY

This event is only open to the men entered.

The ski cross-country starts at the Park Slide at 3.30 p.m., and finishes at the Old Campus about 4.30 p.m. McGill's entries are:

Reid
Owens
Gordon
Glen Whitall.

Any man may enter this event and will be eligible for a medal should he win a place, but only points made by the above men will count for McGill. This event should be close, and judging by the previous run at Dartmouth, should have an exciting finish.

The snowshoe cross-country starts at the Old Campus at 3.30 p.m., and finishes there at 4.00 p.m. For McGill are the following men:

Hamilton
Davis
Simpson
Creelman

Hammy, our Canadian half-mile champion, is expected to do well, and only missed first place at the Dartmouth Meet by an accident to his harness. Dick Creelman's work will be remembered, and Davis and Simpson should be well to the front at the finish.

To-morrow morning, Saturday, will see the ski and snowshoe dashes. At 10.00 a.m. the heats of the ski dash will be run off; after this, the heats of the snowshoe. All of these events will take place at the Old Campus, and immediately after them, the finals will be run.

McGill's entries for the ski dash are:

Foss
Glen
Owens
Gordon

The entries for the snowshoe dash:

Hamilton
Creelman
Davis
King

The obstacle race, not counting for points, and open to all, will take place on the Campus after the dashes.

The jumping, the big spectacular event of the meet, is at 3.00 p.m. on Saturday. At this time will also take place several exhibitions, including tandem jumps, which will bring the crowd to the Cote des Neiges Jumps.

Unfortunately, Carlton, of Dartmouth, has broken some bones of his hand, and "Dad" Lamb reports that he may not be able to compete. Carlton won the Intercollegiate Jumping last year when Dartmouth won the meet by 22 points to 16, won the jumping and came second in the proficiency contest in the meet at Dartmouth this year. We hope you will be able to compete, Carlton!

R. Roy, Med. '25, will be at the Park Slide to take attendance between three and four to-day.

SOPHISTINES OVERTHREW FRESHITES

Scribe Sings of the Sweet Soph Sisters.

O EBENEZER!

Sophs. Struggle Sore, Shoot Single Score. Selah!

(Special from the R.V.C.)

Theophanes the Goliath unto Ebenezer his fellow martyr, Greetings! A former treatise have I made unto thee O Ebenezer concerning that which I am condemned daily to see and yet once more shall I tell thee of strange happenings.

And behold! in the second month of the year and the twenty-third day of the month came certain of the virgins of the R.V.C. unto the Hollow clad in raiment of red and of white and bearing aloft branches of some strange tree, cunningly wrought. Now of two tribes were they; and the maidens of the tribe of the Sophistines arrayed themselves over against the summer house and the maidens of the tribe of the Freshites stood to southward at the end of the rink as thou comest to Sherbrooke Street. Then did the great and wise man Irrol, son of Amaron, stand forth even in the middle of the ice and throwing down that which the people of this land call Puck, with a mighty blast of his trumpet bade the maidens begin.

Then O Ebenezer, did each virgin advance with exceeding great speed against her sister, with much waving of sticks; and such a struggle arose that my senses swam, nor could mine eyes distinguish one figure from another. But presently I beheld the puck to go sliding into the goal of the Freshites, shot by the cunning hand of the captain of the Sophistines even Alice the Royite. Then arose a mighty shout to eastward and looking I beheld ten other maidens of the R.V.C. come to watch their sisters do battle and greatly did the sisters of the Sophomores rejoice that not lack of practice, no, nor even pestilence had diminished the prowess of their Captain. But now valiantly strove the Freshites to avenge themselves but right skillfully did those that defended the goal of the Sophistines even Slack and Peck, set at naught all their efforts.

But hark! even as they struggled, a shout of "Time" arose and all those that had retired unto the side lines to receive the praises of those that sat round about. And they all cried aloud strange words, the which I could not interpret. And then were the numbers of those that watched increased by four children and one dog and upon the street Sherbrooke, two chariots halted that those who sat within might behold the conflict—for at another blast of the trumpet the maidens again took up their stand.

And behold both Robertson the Freshite and Elliot her sister seemed determined to score and great were the rushes made by these two and right well did they handle their sticks. And now were they aided by Hertzberg but she who stood within the goal, even Lorna daughter of Kerr turned aside the shots of the Freshites. Then Slack and Roy of the Sophistines did labour exceedingly hard to cause the puck to enter the borders of the goal of the Freshites but in vain. And the Captain of the Sophistines became exceedingly weary and one Wighton did replace her till she had rested. And behold many times did the son of Amaron become entangled in the waving sticks but leapt he lightly, even as a young hind from the midst of the rushing maidens and landed safely several cubits off. Lo, Great was the joy of those that watched to behold the efforts of this young man to escape being trodden underfoot. But soon the trumpet sounded and once more the maidens betook themselves unto the benches.

And behold, as they rested, one of the Subs of the Sophistines went forth upon the ice and thrice did she drive the puck past the stick and past the feet of the son of Amaron who stood within the goal—yea, verily, did she pass even that wise man so well versed in the game, hockey. And exceeding great was the rejoicing of the spectators thereat, and loud their praise of the prowess of their sister. And bearing the tumult, three youths drew nigh and took their stand upon the side of the hill, and two aged damsels watched from afar off, as for the last time the maidens went forth upon the ice.

Then like a whirlwind advanced Elliot the Freshite, driving the puck before her even as the shepherd driveth forward the sheep upon the Mountains of Lebanon, and descended she upon the goal of the Sophistines, but once more did Lorna, daughter of Kerr, turn the puck aside. Then great was the lamentation of the Freshites, and lo, they cried with a

McGill Quintet Off To Toronto For Saturday's Game.

The Senior Basketball Team held their final practice before the game with Varsity, in the gym of the Central Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon at five o'clock. They are to play Varsity on Saturday night in Toronto, and Mr. Dillon, of Toronto, will referee the match. All the Senior players were out at the practice with the exception of Perrault, who is at Kingston, taking part in the debate against Queen's. He will, however, be with the team for Saturday's game. This match is a very crucial one, for if McGill wins it will necessitate a play-off for the titular honors. On the other hand, if Varsity comes out on the large end of the score, the basketball championship for the season of 1921 will be theirs. As everyone knows, the Blue and White have a strong aggregation, and although they beat McGill in Montreal a short while ago, the McGill quintette are confident of reversing the decision at Toronto, or, at any rate, of giving Varsity a much harder battle than they did three weeks ago. They have been working assiduously since that time, and have made a marked improvement in their style of play and shooting. All the men are in the pink of condition, and no one is suffering from any minor injury or strains which might retard their speed.

A. L. PERRY WINS THE TEN DOLLARS

Results of the Commercial Society Competition For Frontispiece.

The Commercial Society by means of these columns desires to congratulate Mr. A. L. Perry on his successful drawing which won the prize of ten dollars offered by the society. Let anyone should run away with the idea that Perry won by default, so to speak, we may say that five other very excellent drawings were handed in for this competition. It was a very difficult matter for the judges to choose from such splendid exhibitions of talent, and they regretted that a prize could not be given to each and every one who entered.

If Mr. Perry will be so good as to present himself to the treasurer, Mr. A. H. MacKinnon, he will receive both the cheque and the congratulations at the same time. However, if he delays too long, he might be only able to collect on the congratulations, there is no interest charge on them.

In passing, if anyone is keenly desirous of seeing the prize-winning drawing, the only thing they have to do is to sign up for a Yearbook, and in due course, printed in four colors, or less, in fact a combination of all the colors in one—will appear the masterpiece.

The executive wishes also to thank all those who contributed to the competition for their very worthy and artistic productions.

loud voice, "Woe, woe is me!" and "Score there, you blighters!" and cast ashes upon their heads. Then furious waxed the struggle, and damsel overturned damsel, as from north to south drove they the puck. And many were the cries of "Shoot a goal, '23!"—yet shot they not a goal, neither they not yet their enemies. Yet loud waxed the cheering, and upon the Street Sherbrooke a peculiar engine, called in the tongue of McGillites, the "Lizzie," slowed down, as did yet another chariot, upon whose sides was written "Grant's Grocery," and those that passed by upon the sidewalk halted and gazed with eager eyes upon the scene before them. Nor did they look for excitement in vain, for behold, with a mighty bound leapt Slack into the air and descended upon the ice with great velocity. Howbeit, neither was she nor the ice much injured, and at the call, "One minute to go," sprang to her feet. And now the Freshites strove diligently to make even the score, but the unwelcome blast of the trumpet bade them cease from vain labors and betake themselves unto Mathematics.

And this, O my brother, is a true report of the struggle between the Sophistines and the Freshites; and behold the score at the end thereof was 1-0 for the Sophistines.

Lo, this was the line-up:

Freshites

And now, farewell. Perchance thou mayest hear more anon of the strange doings of the R.V.C. that play the game hockey. Selah!

Instructions to Referees.

Specimen cards with names and scores will be posted at the Rink. Referees should explain to their time-keepers how to record scores on the cards provided. The cards MUST have the following information on the back:

- (1) Names of scorers. Time of score.
 - (2) Penalties, if any.
 - (3) Signatures of both referees.
- The Manager wishes to thank those gentlemen who handled games last week for their efficient co-operation and good judgment.

Challenge Games.

Now that the All-Star Series has been practically completed, there will be a number of hours available for Challenge Games. It has been deemed inexpedient to start a new series, but any team which feels that it has had less than its fair share of hockey owing to early elimination, may arrange for challenge games.

Any team wishing to play a challenge game should notify the Manager or any of the Assistant Managers in writing, stating who they wish to challenge and on what day they would like to play. The Manager will then make the necessary arrangement for an hour, and will, if so desired, arrange for officials. This will, however, not be done except by request, the team managers being left to arrange for their own officials.

Outside Games.

Some requests have been received for permission to play matches with outside clubs. Any other teams desiring to arrange such matches are reminded that the consent of the McGill Athletic Association must first be secured. The Manager will be pleased to forward any such applications, which must be submitted in writing to him, or addressed to him at the Union, or handed in to one of the Assistant Managers—
H. D. MALLISON, Commerce '23.
C. ELDERKIN, Commerce '22.
G. F. JONES, Commerce '22.

It is important to secure permission before arranging such matches, as otherwise players may inadvertently lay themselves and all of their team open to suspension, not only from the McG. U.A.A.A. but also from the C.A.H.A.

H. WYATT JOHNSTON, Manager, Class Hockey and Rink.

THEATRE PARTY OF THE SOCIETE

To the Canadian Français Was a Great Success.

In spite of the inclement weather, seventeen members of the Societe Française took the long journey east to Theatre Canadien Français. This theatre party is an annual affair, and is always looked forward to with great pleasure. Naturally, the entry of the fair co-eds caused a stir of interest and curious whispering among the rather mixed audience.

"Les Conquerants," a play in three acts, by Charles Lysere, presented nothing very new as regards plot, but its interpretation left very little to be desired.

It is much to be regretted that these affairs are not more frequent occurrences, for they are admirable means of improvement in French and amusement.

THE BOOK OF THE YEAR.

Oh, winter's chill hath passed away
From out the heaven so blue;
I'm feeling cheerfuller each day,
Belike you're cheerful too—
With genial light the sun shines bright,
The trees are getting snappy,
But take a look at our Year Book,
And then we'll all be happy.

Some lovely queen has clutched your heart,
I know it at a glance;
The looks that neath her lashes dart
Your throbbing heart entrance.
You'd run a mile to win a smile,
Now take a hint, old chaps—
A cosy nook and your Year Book,
And won't you both be happy!

Suppose some rough-neck guy comes round,
And tries to win her hand,
Don't throw a fit and bite the ground—
She'll like that—understand?
Preserve your goat, peel off your coat
(You're feeling rather scrappy),
Then paste the crook with your Year Book,
And so we'll all be happy!

Well, now I've done my little spiel;
It wasn't much, I'll say,
For we must follow fortune's wheel—
We're creatures of a day.
Come on and sign that dotted line,
But make it sharp and snappy;
And get the book with our Year Book,
Oh, won't we all be happy!

VARSITY OFFERS THREE TO TWO

Toronto Coach Not Over-Confident of Result.

(Special to the "McGill Daily.")
Toronto, Feb. 24th. — The Varsity sextette play again to-night against Kitchener, in Hamilton, in the "sudden death" game, the outcome of which will decide which team will represent the O. H. A. in the Allan Cup semi-finals. The team has put in a strenuous week, having previously played Kitchener in a hard game, out of which they emerged victors by a score of 5 to 1.

The Varsity coach did not appear to be over-confident of his team's ability to win against McGill on Saturday night, but the local students can see nothing to it but Toronto, and are offering odds of three to two. The team will probably go into action with the same line-up as will be used against Kitchener to-night.

Saturday's game will be played on artificial ice, and the surface of the rink is slightly larger than that of the Montreal Arena. This will probably be to the advantage of the McGill team as they are reputed to be a "hard-ice team."

PROMINENT UNDERGRAD. IS PINCHED

For Illegal Use of His Hip Pocket.
$5,000 BAIL.

Students of the Faculty of Law Pass Around the Mug.

The blow has fallen! A prominent student of this University has been apprehended on a charge of breaking certain laws of the Province of Quebec, and is at present out on bail. The facts of the case are as follows:

The student, dressed to the nines (not the sort that break when you look at them) was walking hurriedly yet peacefully down one of our well-known and most frequented streets—as it happened, two East of the Main—when he was accosted by a man dressed in a dark grey suit with a jet black fur cap, with brass buttons and wearing an armlet of red and white on his left arm.

Our hero at once halted, bowed politely, and stepped back with the remark, "No, I don't want a Gazette," and was about to pass on, when the policeman, revenue officer, officer of the Crown, Municipality and Public Safety (the five roles being all contained, hard work as it was, by the garment of the brass buttons) laid a heavy hand, of color to match his uniform, on the popular campus leader's shoulder and brought him up sharply with a sickening jerk which made Si's—for no doubt you have already divined that it was our popular hero—teeth click together with a resounding snap.

The officer bent forward, according to a passerby, and whispered in Si's ear, "Slip us one and I'll let you go."

Si weighed the suggestion and thought for a moment. It was worth five and one-half golden simoleons, and to part with it would set him back at least half that number. However, deciding that value was the better part of discretion, he put his hand to his hip-pocket and produced the desired object, and passed on.

He had not, however, walked more than forty paces, when he again felt a hand,—this time one of a darker color than the previous one,—on his other shoulder; and for fear that he should lose his teeth this time, he shoved on the brakes, and stopped dead in no less than four inches and an increment of a foot.

Rumors, like oil on water, soon spread, and in less than ten minutes, at least one hundred and fifty law students had gathered around, and were standing by at the beck and call of Si, ready to come to his assistance if need be. But, however, before any rescue could be effected, the patrol arrived with the entire available police force of the city, and Si was unceremoniously handled in by two policemen, and drove away with the two officers who had answered the call at Chenneville Street, where he was formally charged with boot-legging and of being in possession of spirituous liquors, which liquors, however, Si states, were "fit medicine" for Ma.

Being arraigned in the Recorder's Court, bail was fixed by Recorder Simple at no less than $5,000.

The Law students with their customary alacrity hastily called an Emergency Meeting, and with the usual Faculty Spirit which characterizes the Faculty of Law, and places it head and shoulders above all the other faculties, a mug was passed around, and $5,010.13 and a button clinked the bottom; and upon one of the students tendering the bail required, the famous Law student was liberated amid the cheers of his fellows, though his freedom is only pro tem (et pro quid quo) de facto, and de jure et de jure, and so Si is as usual attending his lectures at the Faculty.

Upon being approached by our representative, the executive of the Law Faculty would not divulge what course of action they intend to follow, and the only statement vouchsafed by them was that drastic action would be taken against those responsible for these malicious and offensive attacks made on innocent individuals.

The authorities of McGill have hitherto made no remarks as to what will be the result of Si's arrest, but an official announcement is expected at any hour.

Si, when he appeared before Recorder Simple, moved for a change of venue, which was granted, and in consequence the trial will take place shortly at Sims Corners.

Needless to say, the services of the best counsel of Sims Corners have been secured for Mr. Whiffletree, and numerous offers from the legal minds of the University have been laid at the feet of our popular idol.

P. C. DEFEATS CONGOS IN BASKETBALL

Score Shows Teams Evenly Matched.
EXCITING GAME.

First Half Ends With Score 10-10, But P.C.'s Win Out.

In one of the fastest and most exciting basketball games that has been seen in the Inter-Theological Colleges League this year, the Presbyterian quintette defeated the Congregationals by the close score of 16-14.

The score is a just indication of the play, and the final outcome of the game was in doubt until the last few minutes of play. In the first few minutes the Presbyterians piled up a six score lead, then were unable to tally for the remainder of the period, while the Congregationals came right back and netted four points. The second half was replete with thrills and exciting moments. The Congos netted a penalty basket, then the ball went through from a jump-off near the basket and sent the Congos ahead. The Presbyterians worked at top speed and forged ahead, then the Congos scored twice and tied the score, 10-10. Pandemonium was let loose when the Presbyterians went ahead on a penalty shot, then the Congos went ahead again, but, led by Amaron, the P. C. staged a come-back, and just managed to win out by a two-point lead.

This victory gives the championship of the league to the Presbyterians, who have gone through the season without sustaining a defeat. Both teams recognized the importance of last night's game, and worked like Trojans—the Presbyterians to win the championship and the Congregationals to win the game and thus necessitate a play-off. The brand of basketball played was much above that shown in the other league games this season. A fast pace was maintained throughout, but play was clean and free from any objectionable rough stuff. It would be difficult to pick out any outstanding players on either team. Amaron displayed a deadly accuracy in shooting penalty baskets, but was covered too closely to net many field goals. Woodhouse netted two baskets in the first period. Avison played a consistent game, and in the last few minutes of the game scored the goal that gave the P. C. their lead.

For the Congos, Bronson played a good game, but was singularly unfortunate. He was injured at the very beginning of the game, and twice in the last period his knee was wrenched badly. He stuck to it gamely, and lasted the whole game through. Whitmore played an especially strong game on defence, and time and again broke up sure chances for the basket.

Amaron scored the first point on a penalty basket. Bronson was hurt. On the resumption of play, the P. C.'s bombarded the Congo goal and Woodhouse finally tallied. Amaron scored on a penalty, and soon Woodhouse followed with a field basket. Moore got a penalty throw, and Smith scored on a long shot. Congos played good combination, but were unable to score. Moore ended the scoring of the first period with a penalty basket. Period ended: Presbyterians, 6; Congregationals, 4.

Moore dropped another penalty shot through in the beginning of the second period, and a moment later Sanders batted the ball into the basket from a jump-off. This sent the Congos ahead one point. Amaron secured the ball on a mid pass and tallied. Play was fast. Amaron scored two penalty baskets in quick succession, then Sanders and Moore counted and brought the score to a 10-10 tie. Amaron and Moore made the tie 11-11 on penalty shots. Bronson and Amaron tallied in quick succession. Bronson's knee was injured. Amaron counted another penalty shot, and a minute later Avison took a chance on a long side shot and made it good. Bronson scored a nice basket, but the Congos could not make the extra basket needed to tie the score.

Rooters from both the P. C. and the C. C. were present in large numbers, and cheered their respective teams heartily.

Special mention must be made of the referee, S. E. Read. He handled the game in a manner satisfactory to both teams, and held the men strictly to the rules of the game.

The teams lined up as follows:

Presbyterians: Guard Whitmore
McPhail Guard Smith
Amaron Forward Sanders
Woodhouse Centre Bronson
Avison Forward Moore

HOCKEY RINKS COST BIG SUM TO MAINTAIN

Estimated Cost of $1,300 For This Year.
WELL WORTH DOUBLE.

Rinks Have Been of Great Benefit to Student Body.

During the recent financial campaign, Dr. Nicholson, the Registrar of the University, published a very interesting and instructive pamphlet entitled, "The Cost of Education." In this article, Dr. Nicholson states the amount paid in fees, and compares these figures with the sum that it costs the University for each student per college year. A study of the figures reveals the fact that a student pays only 20 per cent. of the amount that it costs the University to put him through college.

The Department of Physical Education is now assuming the important place that it should have in a college curriculum. Throughout most of our up-to-date universities, properly organized and supervised physical activity is now taking a much more important place than it has in the past.

The Ideal Department of Physical Education is one through which every student will be active in some form of physical activity. For many years we have witnessed a specialization of a few for the observation of the many. It is obvious that a much more satisfactory plan is to have activities conducted so that the great mass of students will be actively engaged in either competitive athletic or physical exercise of some kind. The belief of modern educational institutions that it is their duty to insure that graduates shall be physically able to carry out through life the principles that they have learnt in college, has led them to inaugurate a programme by which they would be assured that during his college career each student should devote a certain amount of time to physical exercise. To this end, our own university, through Corporation, recently adopted a regulation demanding participation in some form of physical activity for undergraduates of the first three years. The Department of Physical Education is the body which administers and supervises these required activities.

In this connection the financial obligation is a great one. A portion of the fees of each student is set aside and used for the Department. To single out one activity, for example, hockey and skating, it is interesting to note the obligations that have been assumed. Up to the session 1919-1920 two outdoor rinks were conducted, one for the women undergraduates, behind the R.V.C., and the other for men undergraduates, on the Campus. Up to this time, the Students' Council conducted the Campus Rink, and a charge of 25 cents per student was made for all Inter-Class and Inter-Faculty hockey. For the session 1919-1920 on the recommendation of the Department of Physical Education this charge was done away with, and the Students' Council assumed the cost of maintaining the rink. This meant a sum of over $700.00. The average deficit per year previous to this time on the rink was, approximately, $300.00.

In spite of the knowledge that the rink could not be run as a financial success, the Department undertook to run the rink at a loss, the reason for so doing was that every opportunity would be given to students desiring to take part in hockey without any additional financial obligation on the part of the student.

This session, 1920-1921, it was held, that in order to properly accommodate all those who desired to participate in hockey, that more than one rink would be necessary. To this end, arrangements were made whereby a Women's Rink would be constructed on the old tennis courts in the hollow, which could be used for not only ladies' hockey but also for social skating. This rink, which is considerably larger than the old one behind the R.V.C., has proved to be much more expensive to maintain. The use of the Women's Rink for social skating has made possible a much wider use of the Campus Rink for Inter-Class and Inter-Faculty hockey. Opportunity has been offered members of the teaching staff, friends and benefactors of the University, to secure family membership tickets, giving skating privileges on the Women's Rink. Although the revenue is considerably in excess of last year, it is estimated that there will be a deficiency of approximately $1,300.00 on the maintenance of both rinks.

The question arises whether the University, through the Department of Physical Education, is justified in assuming this expenditure. When it is considered that a large number of the teaching staff, friends and benefactors of the University, enjoy the privilege of holding family membership tickets, and the greatly enlarged facilities for Inter-Class and Inter-Faculty hockey for both men and women undergraduates, it is considered that the expenditure is justified and that the plan is well worth while.

The Women's Rink is used 14 hours per week for Inter-Class practices and games for the women students of the University, in addition to five hours per week for men undergraduates' hockey and social skating activities. The Men's Rink has been used to capacity, and there has been on an average 200 men per week engaged in Inter-Class and Inter-Faculty hockey since the beginning of the season. It is difficult to estimate the value of this expenditure to the Undergraduate body. The increased opportunity for healthy, vigorous outdoor exercise in itself should alone make the expenditure justified, but in addition, the fact that the University has had on the average 200 men per week actively engaged in intramural hockey, must have a tremendous effect upon stimulating both inside and outside the University this splendid type of typical Canadian outdoor exercise. The effect that this must have upon the representative teams of the University is bound to be quite marked, also those individuals gain experience, and through increased ability are able to take their places with the teams that are representing the University in the City and District and Intercollegiate Hockey Leagues.

This is one of the ways, then, in which the Department of Physical Education is making a definite contribution towards stimulating activity in hockey and skating, but more important still, it is a most valuable contribution to the health and vigor of our manhood.

PLEDGE CAMPAIGN.
At the time of going to press, the latest reports from the Yearbook Board went to indicate that the Pledge Campaign was meeting with instantaneous success in almost every quarter of the campus. In first year Science, representatives report having exceeded their class-objective by over 100 per cent, with the latest total 135; second year exceeded their objective by 85 per cent, with a total subscription of 120 to date. In one section of fourth year Science, the only one reported to date—every man has subscribed. The objective aimed at by Law has been already doubled, and the representatives report much of the ground as yet untouched. The other faculties have held back their day's results, and prefer to send in the subscriptions as a final total to-morrow, but from unofficial sources we are advised that the results published to-day are in every case very typical of the campaign's certain success. And yesterday was only the first day!

HISTORIANS READ PAPERS OF HIGH TYPE

R. H. Walter and H. Avison
Speakers of Evening.

KEEN SUBJECTS.

Dealt With Question of Men-monites and Doukhobors in Canada.

Last evening at the meeting of the McGill Historical Club two of the most interesting and enlightening papers that have been read this year were delivered by Messrs. H. Avison and R. H. Walter. The subject of Mr. Walter's topic was "The Menmonites in Canada," which he thoroughly discussed, introducing the principles of their sect and also summing up their historical past. Mr. Avison, on the other hand, dealt with another extremely important question with regard to religious sects, in the problem which is causing much commotion in the West to-day, namely, "The Doukhobors." Both speakers showed a deep insight into the two matters of importance and the heartfelt expression of thanks on behalf of the members present expressed by the president, Mr. Murray, were worthily deserved. The discussion which followed proved an outlet for the opinions of all attending. The papers will be published as soon as space permits.

CERCLE RECEIVES AN INVITATION

Joint Meeting With Societe
To Be Held Next Wednesday.

Members of the Cercle Francals will no doubt be delighted to learn that an invitation has been received from their sister organization, the Societe Francaise, to a reception, which will take place in the Royal Victoria College on the evening of Wednesday, March 2nd. This invitation has been accepted by the executive. No details have been made public as yet as to the exact nature of the "reception." As far as could be gathered, however, it is being organized with the utmost care and attention to detail—and, at any rate, it concerneth not the mere male to probe into the mysteries of an entertainment founded on the genius of feminine inspiration. It is probably quite safe to hazard a guess that the usual deference which is customary to pay to the Terpsichorean Muse will not be omitted on this occasion either.

At the last joint meeting held a few weeks ago, at which the Cercle were hosts to the Societe, the whole affair went off with a considerable amount of elan and verve, and this second meeting should be even more productive of success in this direction. It behooves, therefore, every member of the Cercle Francals in good standing to keep Wednesday, March 2nd, free and unencumbered from other and more trivial engagements.

and hard, clean competition will be assured in all the classes. "Varsity" won the honors last year, but McGill hopes to bring the cup to Montreal. The weighing in of the competitors will take place at 4 o'clock this afternoon, four hours before the start of the bouts. The wrestlers had no workout yesterday, but Coach Smith gave a review of all the more important holds and tricks in the game, and also gave a few words of advice to the men. All the wrestlers, with the exception of Currie, the 135-lb. champion, who, unluckily, had to have a minor operation on his ear, are in the pink of condition. It is expected, however, that Currie will be able to wrestle. The boxers are also confident and hope to come on top. The trip that they took up to Ottawa last week helped to clear up any nervousness that they might have in performing before a large audience. The teams from "Varsity" and Queen's arrived yesterday. The ring has been erected and everything is in readiness for this evening. The McGill Assault-at-Arms Team is as follows:—

DEFEATING LA TUQUE MCGILL CLIMBS TO CHAMPIONSHIP

a sure goal. The constant attacking of La Tuque at last bore fruit, with the McGill team playing a pathetically weak defence game, and leaving men uncovered in front of the net. Goswell passed out from behind the nets to McNaughton, who had no difficulty in beating Stenson with a waist-high shot. With but five minutes to go, McGill decided that a bold attack was better than a concentrated defence, and opened up their play and carried the puck into La Tuque's territory. Lyall, who had been substituted for Anderson, gave a pretty display of stick-handling, and would surely have scored had he not been tripped by Montgrain, who was banished as a result, with but a few minutes to go. The play was carried to the McGill end, and Dineen relieved, and was just in the middle of a spectacular rush when the game ended, leaving McGill on the large end of a six to four score.

It would be an injustice to single out any individual star, but the chief credit, if any, must be given to Stenson for his sterling work between the sticks. "Shag" is indeed to be congratulated on the work of the team and their steady progress during the last week from an almost mediocre outfit to a team which is proving itself in every way worthy of representing the east in the hockey finals. The chief characteristic of the team is the utter unselfishness of each man and their co-operation with one another in the best interests of the team and without thought of personal glory. Flanagan, whose chief fault in past seasons has been his tendency to hog the puck, is leading the way in the matter of combination, and any opportunity to score by a pass is taken advantage of by him. Ted Behan, who, since his entrance to McGill has been one of the chief bullwarks, seems to have found the Fountain of Youth, and improves from day to day. His back-checking last night was a revelation, and he seems to be working harder than ever before in his career. Jimmy Cully seems intent on winding up his college career in a blaze of glory, and this year has proved to be the real "Old Reliable." Time and again this year, when opponents have come within striking distance, he has turned the tide by crashing through for goals that gave the team the edge needed to win. McGill's sensational march towards the championship has been attributed to many causes, but the real and great reason for it is one "Boo" Anderson, whose return to the team gave them that "je ne sais quoi," which goes to make a first-class team. He is the most persistent back-checker, and in an emergency there is no one we like to see better in the breach than this same "Boo."

Immediately after the game, the team, like the Arabs, "folded their tents and stole silently away" to the desolate wastes of Toronto. Before the train pulled out from Bonaventure Station, they were the objects of an enthusiastic demonstration by a large number of rooters, who were on hand to speed them on their way. Their opponents in Toronto are our ancient foes of the Blue and White, and while we do not care to make rash prophecies, we somehow imagine that Varsity will receive the surprise of their lives when they hook up with our stalwarts to-morrow night in the game which will practically decide the resting-place of the Intercollegiate pennant for the coming year. If determination and pluck count for anything, then the game is already ours, for the team has fought against almost overwhelming odds during the last week, and it is only their doggedness and gameness that has brought them through so successfully.

ENTHUSIASTIC GATHERING AT DENTS' DINNER

Possessed Every Element of a Successful Function.

WITTY SPEECHES.

Spirit of Good Fellowship
Impregnated Every One Present.

When one thinks of the elements a really successful dinner ought to possess, and then reflects on last night's Dental dinner, with no hesitation it can be said that this dinner possessed nearly all, if not every one, of those intangible things which send one away feeling that the evening has truly not been wasted. Of course the etymology of the word "dinner" implies that there must be something to eat, and indeed, there was that, and of such a kind to make you sit back when finished and say "Now let the speeches come; I'm prepared for anything." This does not imply that the speeches were dull, boring and uninteresting. Nay, decidedly to the contrary. There were those that make us laugh, those that illuminate, and those that display genuine sincerity on the part of the speaker. And last, but not least, there was an atmosphere of good fellowship and camaraderie that is so indispensable when it comes to making an occasion like this "go." One could almost hear them saying, "Come on, boys; we're all Dents, so stop being an icicle and enjoy yourself."

The dinner took place in the Oak Room of the Windsor last night. At about 8.30, G. S. Veith, the chairman, asked the small but enthusiastic number of Dents present to take their seats. Nobody was noticed to hesitate, and all partook heartily (very heartily) of the excellent viands provided. That capable unit of harmony, Lebaron's Orchestra, materially aided the digestive organs by its playing.

After this process was finished, the plates somehow had vanished and the glasses filled, alas we sigh to say it, with pure and unadulterated aqua pura, Veith once more arose and remarked on the improvement in the Faculty in the last year, especially in the participation of sports. He regretted the small number present (there were about 60 or 70 out of about 120), but said that it was no doubt due to the counter attraction of the big game, and then introduced A. J. MacMillan as toastmaster. It might be opportune to remark here on the sterling ability of MacMillan as an after-dinner speaker. He has the happy knack of not only holding the attention of his audience, but of speaking in an unconventional, humorous and breezy manner without blatantly impressing his hearers with the fact that he is doing so on purpose and "with malice aforethought." From beginning to end, he delighted his fellow-Dents with his witticisms and sly digs at his co-students.

After the toast of "The King" had been proposed, J. Abraham then proposed the toasts to "Alma Mater," touching briefly on the new visions that all were now seeing for McGill's future greatness, and stressed the value the embryo dormitories will have in cementing friendships of McGill students. Sir Arthur Currie, who was expected to be present and to respond to the toast, was unfortunately absent owing to a previous engagement which he could not break so Dean Thornton very ably filled the gap, and in his usual shrewdly humorous way, replied to the toast. He spoke briefly but to the point and was heartily applauded.

Lalshley, of 2nd year Dentistry, was then called upon to propose the toast of "The Dental Profession." He explained that dentistry was an outgrowth of medicine and remarked on the rapid strides that the practice of dentistry had made since its first severing from pure medicine. He concluded by showing how important the possession was, and of the necessity of sound teeth for the preservation of good health. Dr. Edmison followed Lalshley, and spoke a little of the business side of dentistry. He remarked that when he first decided to take up dentistry as a vocation, he thought only of this side of it and looked out the practice merely as a means of making a living. But he went on to say that afterwards he found that dentistry was much the same as in any other profession, and that one must strive to do service and good in the world, in preference to any mercenary consideration. Dr. Edmison is a recent graduate of the Faculty of Dentistry and such things may well be clear in his mind. At this point news of McGill's victory at hockey came in, and resulted in a burst of cheering, followed by M-C-G-I-L-L.
The speeches terminated with two orations about the graduating class of Dentistry, the tone of both being that Dents '21; when they went on.
